

Apex® Payroll Announces New Chief Technology Officer – Kevin Lenahan

Roswell, GA, June 12, 2011 - Apex Payroll a trusted provider of comprehensive payroll, payroll tax, Human Resources and timekeeping services and cloud based technology, today announced the addition of Kevin Lenahan as their new Chief Technology Officer.

"Apex has a great team priding themselves on delivering high quality products and services. I am honored to become part of the team and we have a terrific opportunity to continue to provide our best-in-class Employer OnDemand™ payroll solution" said Lenahan.

As CTO, Lenahan will be responsible for Apex's Cloud Based system architecture, security, customer support, and the integration of emerging technologies. Lenahan brings extensive experience in building and leading software teams. Lenahan previously held the position of Chief Technology Officer at ClearStar.net, a software-as-a-service provider to independent employment screening retailers. Beyond software development, he has established and built IT infrastructures for a variety of clients during his tenure with several consulting firms. "We are excited to have Kevin join our growing team as we continue to rapidly expand our product and service offerings," said Stephen Gregg, CEO of Apex Payroll. "His experience with leading software teams, passion for technology, entrepreneurial spirit, and comprehension of the employee life cycle has allowed him to hit the ground running."

Lenahan received his B.S. in Management Information Systems from Auburn University. He holds certifications as a Microsoft Certified Trainer (MCT), a Microsoft Certified Systems Engineer (MCSE), a Microsoft Certified Database Administrator (MCDBA), and a Citrix Certified Administrator (CCA).
